COMMISSION IN MEETING TODAY

Preparation Is Made for Opening of Bids for Construction of 160 Miles of Road

FRANKFORT Oct 23 (AP)—Extra work orders and supplemental agreements for the most part occupied the state highway commission in semi monthly meeting today. Preparation is made for opening of bids for construction of 160 miles of highway next Wednesday.

The consequent letting of contracts will be one of the largest authorized by the present commission, [illegible] S Boggs, state highway engineer, said. The contracts will run into millions of dollars he added.

The highway department, Mr Boggs said, reporting completion of reorganization since beginning of the new fiscal year, employs about 600 persons civil engineers, and others in the engineering force, not including day labor used in maintenance work.

An average of about 200 engineers, 75 per cent of them college graduates, the others having obtained their training from years of experience in road construction and maintenance are employed he said.

The department, of course, has many highly trained technical men. Some of its most valued employees however are men with limited college education but excellent experience records.'

The commission will proceed with its plans in Henderson county to build the Dixie Bee highway along a route suggested by its county officials, according to W C Montgomery, chairman.

Department engineers returned today from the Kentucky Highway Engineers' convention in Covington.

ARGENTINA REPELS DUAL NATIONALISM

University Educators Protest Lecture Course Given by Former Prime Minister.

BUENOS AIRES, Oct 2[illegible]—(AP)—The recent visit to Argentina of Vittorio E Orlando, former Italian prime minister, to give a course of lectures in the law department of the University of Buenos Aires, did not pass without a protest by some Argentine educators. These gentlemen regarded Signor Orlando as a promoter of loyalty to Italy among the children of Italian immigrants at the expense of their loyalty to the country of their birth.

One member of the law faculty, Dr Juan C Rebora, refused to attend the lectures, as did also Dr Alfredo L Palacios, dean of the faculty of juridical and social sciences of the University of La Plata. They expressed themselves in correspondence which was directed to the students and professors of all educational institutions as opposed to the main tenets of a theory which tends to create a double nationality for those who, having been born in Argentina, [illegible] feel themselves and wish to be Argentines.

Remarks by Signor Orlando on his arrival here were quoted in the correspondence as showing that he considered allegiance to Italy as the duty of those born of Italian blood in foreign lands. The professors also cited a manifesto published by prominent Italian residents in connection with the visit of Prince Humbert to Argentina, in which the prince was referred to as the future sovereign of our sons. This they described as the fruit of the Italian policy to [illegible] Italians in foreign lands.

This policy, remarked Dr Rebora, 'does not merely oppose the immigrant taking root in the country, it openly resists the orientation of the sentiments of his children. It publicly propagates the doctrine of 'jus sanguinis' by which the son retains the nationality of his father, a doctrine which Argentine law and Argentine thought must refuse as destructive.'

COAL PRODUCTION STAGES COMEBACK

Largest Output Since March 22nd of this Year is Noted In Report of Association

APPLACHIA Oct 23—The largest output since March 22nd of this year is noted in the weekly report submitted by the Virginia Coal Operators Association for tonnage of coal mined in the Southwest Virginia field for week ending October 11th. Number of tons mined during the above period was 180 156 tons or an increase over the previous week of 15 653 tons.

This is the most encouraging report for many weeks as the coal business has been at a very low ebb in point of production during the past summer months. The highest week's production this year was during the week of February 9th when 198 576 tons were mined, but since that time it has gradually dropped finally reaching its lowest point during the week of July 5th when only 110 291 tons were mined.

Tonnage produced on the different railroad lines is shown as follows: Norfolk & Western 26 116 tons; Norton & Northern 1,300 tons; Interstate 64 489 tons; Southern 43 338 tons; C C & O 14 486 tons.

Loss in tonnage is charged to the following causes: Car shortage, 480 tons; labor shortage 1,0008 tons; mine disabilities, 2 100 tons; no market 74 976 tons.

FIFTEEN MEN ENTOMBED IN COAL MINE

FIRE IS BARRIER

Two other men, Gillard [illegible], 25, electrician helper and Thomas [illegible] [illegible] believed to be buried beneath the fall of slate. Fire burned between the rescue workers and the spot where they hoped to reach the victims bodies. Although the blaze is declared of small consequence, it is feared that the missing men might suffocate if they had escaped the slate fall. The blaze will be extinguished before noon. [illegible] Powell is heading a crew of five men from the United States Bureau of mines. They arrived during the night from Evansville, Ind. and assumed direction of the rescue crews.

Price of Hogs Follow That of Corn

LOUISVILLE Oct 23 (AP) The price of hogs follows that of corn, J Lewis Letterle, president of the Jefferson County Farm bureau said today. In a statement to members he declared:

When we want to train a hog want to make him do as we want him to we lead him along by dropping corn in front of him. He follows the corn. It is the same way with the price of hog. It likewise follows the price of corn. If the price of corn goes up the price of hogs trots along following the grunting. If the price of corn goes down along trots the price of hog squealing.

Lots of farmers jump into the hog game when prices are high and jump out again when they are low and they miss both times. They buy high priced stock and by the time they have hogs for sale the price goes down.

It is the man who stays with the game consistently and wisely that wins.

WIRES DOWN IN VICINITY OF PEKING

FENG WITHDRAWS

Later Reports Say General Feng Demanded President Tsao to Issue Mandate Suppressing Pei Fu

SHANGHAI, Oct 2[illegible] (AP)—Peking was suddenly cut off from telegraphic communication from all outside points today. At eight o'clock the Japanese news agency received a message from Tientsin reporting that all foreign military telephone telegraph communications from Peking were cut off after the return to Peking of General Feng with the eighth mixed brigade and eleven divisions. General Feng's action in withdrawing the troops from the Manchurian border is brought about by the desire to follow the action set by the Christian General Sun [illegible] whose troops returned to Peking several days ago. Later reports from Tientsin say that General Feng, entering Peking with a bodyguard demanded President Tsao Kun to issue a mandate ordering the suppression of General Pei Fu.

Mountaineers Need Classical Training

BEREA, Ky., Oct [illegible]—Mountaineers need education more than industrial exploitation, according to President William J Hutchins of Berea College, the largest mountain school of the South.

I have seen community after community where a man has lost his right to be a man, his independence, his individuality and is now merely a company man, he said.

The schools at Berea, [illegible], Red Bird, Hindman and [illegible] Mountains are educating sons and daughters of a people whose American ancestry is as old as the nation itself.

Their forefathers, all of sturdy Saxon origin, came from the Virginia and Carolinas long before Kentucky was admitted to the union. [illegible] Some of them own as their only books colonial Bibles which belonged to their ancestors and which moonlight schools and occasional mission [illegible] were virtually illiterate.

Three Contestants are Running "Neck and Neck" Today.

STANDING TONIGHT

Friends of Candidates Holding Back Votes That May Materially Change Results in Final Count

Voting in the American Legion Popularity Contest speeded up nicely yesterday. The tabulation last night at the office of the Middlesboro Daily News, showed that Miss Lucille Short is now in the coveted first place. Miss Short secured a fine vote during the day. Her total is now 1505. Miss Mildred Kerr who was in first place yesterday also counted nicely during the day and her total was 1495. The friends of Miss Mary Mattingly who lead the first day balloting were not idle and Miss Mattingly finished the day with a total of 11[illegible] votes. The standing of the other candidates is given in the general standing. Merchants reported yesterday that the contest is creating great interest and that votes are being called for by practically every customer.

Legion officials in charge of the popularity contest request that friends of the candidates please ballot votes each day rather than hold them until a large number have been secured. A large number of votes are now out which have not been balloted and this request is made in behalf of all candidates. By casting all votes secured each day the relative strength of each candidate can be ascertained and their friends can govern their efforts accordingly.

This was the standing of the candidates at 7 00 P M Wednesday October 22nd 1924.

WHISKY CASES ARE NOW DOWN FINE

Court of Appeals Has Got Away With a Bound In Disposal of Whisky Cases

FRANKFORT Oct 23 (AP) The court of appeals has got away with a bound in disposing of whisky cases since convening for the fall term. A number of important rulings in brief follow:

An offense against the Rash Gullion act, Kentucky's prohibition law, may be prosecuted by warrant.

If a man owns a farm in one county and establishes a distillery on a farm he owns in another, county both tracts cannot be forfeited to the state [illegible] distillery was established on one of them.

Officers may search the [illegible] provided search does not include the building of one suspected and is not within the curtilage.

No definition has been made of the space around one's dwelling, and other buildings upon which a search cannot be made without a warrant to do so, Chief Justice Sampson declared in a late whisky opinion.

In one case we held that a pond within a stone's throw of the residence was within prohibited territory and not subject to search. In another case we held that the yard and garden nearby were exempt from search by prohibition officers.

In another case, we held an officer could not peer in at the window of a residence and then discover contraband whisky without rendering his testimony inadmissible.

China Works Hard To Avert Famine

PEKING, Oct 23—(AP)—A report recently issued by the engineering department of the China International Famine Relief commission, organized four years ago as a result of the great famine in China, gives the following interesting data as to preventive work done in conjunction with the American Red Cross.

Two thousand miles of new road were built and 750 miles of roads repaired. The total cost of this work was over $1,000,000, Chinese currency, or about $2,000 000 gold.

In regions subject to drouth approximately 25 miles of irrigation ditches were constructed, at a cost of $51 000 and over 370 miles of drainage ditches were dug or cleaned at an expense of $220 000. Five hundred miles of river dyke were built or repaired, entailing an outlay of more than $500 000. Wells were sunk to the number of 1 672 at a cost of $105,000.

In addition the commission contributed $60 000 toward the work of confining the Yellow River to its channel at Lichin where it had broken its dykes and flooded the surrounding country.

ARMENIA TO ERECT TRAINING SCHOOLS

Plans Are Being Drawn Up By the Government for Three Schools For Poor Children

ERIVAN, Armenia, Oct 23—(AP)—Plans are being drawn by the Armenian government for the erection of three great industrial training schools in or near Erivan for poor Armenian boys and girls, the funds being supplied by wealthy Armenian Americans. The three institutions will cost upward of $1,000,000. The first of these is an agricultural and industrial school which will be paid for out of a half million dollar bequest left by the late [illegible] Gulbenkian of New York.

The second school will be devoted to trade and technical subjects for dependent Armenian boys, the cost being defrayed by the late Rafael Mirzossian, of New York, who died in Paris, leaving 700 000 francs for the founding of such an institution.

The third school will be a vocational institution for Armenian orphan girls between 16 and 18 years old. These children will be instructed in domestic science, nursing, and the useful arts, the plan being to make the girls self supporting for life. This institution has been made possible through the generosity of Leon Agopian, a wealthy Armenian business man living in New York, who set aside nearly $250 000 for the purpose in memory of his sister, [illegible] Agopian, who recently died in New York at the age of eighteen.

Leon Pashalian and Kevork As[illegible] members of the Armenian national committee at Geneva, are arranging the details of the three institutions in collaboration with the Armenian government officials. It is expected the schools will absorb the greater number of destitute Armenian boys and girls now in America and will also supply the future artisans, engineers, nurses and teachers of the country. A considerable number of the orphans now being cared for at Alexandropol by the American Near East Relief Organization will be transferred to the new schools.

Hop Pickers Suffer On Rainy Days

CANTERBURY, Eng, Oct 23—(AP)—Hop pickers, usually recruited from the ranks of the poorest people in England have had a more wretched time than usual this year.

Wet weather and the continuous sodden state of the ground have produced more cases of minor illness and pneumonia than the first aid and mission hospitals on the spot could cope with, and many women and children have been severely affected by insect bites.

The bulk of them will have no employment for another year, when they will endure like hardships again to earn their pittance. They come annually to Kent to earn a few shillings a day.

NOT PUT IN JAIL

Warrant Sworn Out by R. T. McDaniel, Brother of Slain Dentist—Manning Brother-in-Law of McDaniel

TAZEWELL, Oct 23—The case of Bailey Manning charged with the murder of Dr F J McDaniel, Tazewell dentist, was continued in the court of F F Overton, J P, this afternoon until Wednesday October 29th. Manning is charged with murder, the degree not defined.

Manning was arrested Tuesday night about 7 o'clock as the result of the shooting Monday night. His father Noah Manning and a neighbor, W G Yoakum signed the $10,000 bond for his preliminary appearance.

Sentiment in the community is badly divided. The family of Manning is standing squarely behind him in his defense and the McDaniel family also of influence in the community are equally strong to see full justice done in the affair.

Manning was not jailed. The sheriff's office notified the defendant that a warrant was out for him and he appeared with his bondsmen and bail was executed. The defendant was on the streets of Tazewell this morning and apparently taking the affair coolly.

TAZEWELL, Oct 23—As a sequel to the killing of Dr E J McDaniel, 35 years old dentist, on the streets here Monday night at 7 o'clock Bailey Manning, his brother in law, was arrested here late last night and released on a bond of $10,000. The preliminary hearing of Manning will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock before Justice of the Peace F. F Overton. Sheriff Greer notified Manning that a warrant had been sworn out, the defendant making bond without going to jail. Manning seems cool about the matter and denies the charge but will not discuss the case further.

The warrant was sworn out by R T McDaniel, brother of the dead dentist. The evidence was worked up by W E O'Connor, of Knoxville former chief of detectives, and James F O'Connor, of the O'Conner Detective Agency of Knoxville who spent Tuesday and today in Tazewell.

Dr McDaniel was shot four times with an automatic shotgun as he was on his way to town to get the mail. His slayer was seated in an automobile which pulled up alongside of Dr McDaniel before firing the shots, any one of which would have been fatal.

The slain man and the defendant married sisters.

Manning is half owner of a garage here and moved to Tazewell from Sycamore. His father, Noah Manning came here today from Rhea county, where he moved a few years ago from Sycamore. Up to a late hour tonight Manning had not retained a lawyer.

Sensational testimony has been promised for the hearing tomorrow and the whole community is aroused to a high pitch by the killing and the prominence of the McDaniel and Manning families.

German Perfects Phonograph Record

BERLIN, Oct 23—(AP)—Twelve inch phonograph records that play for 100 minutes and reproduce whole operas by aid of radio loudspeakers without the noise of needle scratching, have been produced by Dr. Max Hausdorff of this city, working along principles evolved by an English inventor. The production costs of the new record will be much lower than for the five minute records, it is alleged.

JOHNSON ACT MAINTAINS AMERICAN STANDARDS

The Johnson Immigration Act has reduced the flood of incoming aliens to a thin small stream. The Immigration Bureau of the Department of Labor recently published figures showing that from July 1 to August 31, the first two months during which the law was operative, only 7,039 aliens had obtained visas authorizing them to come to the United States. The total number that can be admitted in any one year is 167,750 which is less than half as many as were permitted under the old law.

The number of immigrants coming into this country under the new law will be effectually balanced by the number of persons of foreign birth who will return to their native lands, thus leaving the United States without any serious immigration problem.

This happy solution of a question that has troubled the American people for three decades is in line with the policy of the republican party to give our working people the greatest possible protection at all times. The protective tariff has maintained economic conditions that have made possible the highest wages that have ever been paid in the world's history. The immigration law has closed the gates upon the host of immigrants who would have undermined the high standard of living that American labor enjoys.

The immigration law was not passed without tremendous opposition from powerful interests who wished to have a large and constant supply of cheap labor available at all times. In securing its passage the republican party has maintained consistently its unbroken record of protection for American interests, human as well as material.

NOT USURPED POWER

Hamilton writing in the Federalist and urging New York to approve the proposed fundamental law, said it would be the duty of the federal courts:

> to declare all acts contrary to the manifest tenor of the Constitution void.

James Wilson, one of the signers of the constitution, told the Pennsylvania convention which was then discussing ratification that:

> If a law should be made inconsistent with those powers by this instrument (the proposed Federal Constitiution) vested in Congress, the judges * * * will declare such law null and void * * * Anything, therefore, that shall be enacted by Congress contrary thereto will not have the force of law.

To the Maryland and to the Virginia convention and perhaps to others, this same argument was made. The states were adopting the new Constitution with their eyes open, conferring a power on the courts then and since recognized as sound and essential to the preservation of our particular form of government.

If the people of the United States wish to deprive the Federal court of this power they may do so, though we believe it would be a very unwise step. Talk of the courts' "usurped" power, however is sheer ignorance.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Did You Ever Stop to Think

By E. R. Waite, Secretary, Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce.

THAT manufacturers who are persistent advertisers are the ones who enjoy the greatest business. They don't overlook the fact that no business can succeed without the aid of advertising.

THAT modern manufacturers realize that they must tell about their products through the printed page, not once in a while but all the while, or nobody will know them.

THAT it takes persistent advertising to make the people know a product and not forget it.

THAT quality, well advertised, is the world's best seller. The public knows well advertised lines and want to know them better.

THAT truthful advertising is the power that keeps the wheels of business moving. When advertising stops, the wheels stand still and business is dead.

THAT the public demand well advertised products. A concern that can't meet the demand of the public is at the end of its business life. Only the manufacturers who are persistent advertisers will survive for years to come.

TRUTHFUL ADVERTISING will build a business. A lack of it will break a business.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON — The political perplexities of the G. O. P. will not end with the election of Calvin Coolidge on Nov 4 should that result crown the efforts of Republican campaigners. For even with a Republican victory carrying a nominally Republican House and Senate—since most members of the La Follette bloc in Congress will be elected under that designation—the job of organizing party leadership in the two houses of Congress will be a trying and difficult task inviting much tribulation and woe.

Word now reaching Washington is that it is extremely doubtful whether Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican leader in the upper house, ever again resumes his seat in the Senate.

Lodge, now almost 75, has been in poor health for the past two years. He recently underwent an operation, which seems to have been negative in results. He has not left his home since.

A second operation is said to be desirable, but the senator's failure to gain strength following the first makes it doubtful whether he would survive the ordeal of another.

THE retirement of Lodge, either by death or disability, would force a reshuffling of the cards in the Senate at a time when a new G. O. P. deal there would be most embarrassing.

For the necessity of having to choose a new party leader would give the progressive bloc a chance to set off a lot of fireworks that might be spectacular if not illuminating.

The very jealousies among old line senators who have had their eyes on the leadership for years would give the progressives a chance to pay off in part at least a number of old scores.

While they wouldn't be able to control the situation in a final settlement, they would be able to add a lot to the agony and suspense during the period of wire pulling and jockeying.

ACTUALLY, Lodge's "leadership" has been leadership in name only during the past two sessions. His failing health has undoubtedly contributed to the absence of firm control and rigid party discipline in the Senate. Not only the obstreperous progressive bloc within the party, but individuals like Borah, Couzens, Capper and Howell have defied the party lash and gone scathless.

A sort of soviet central committee headed by Curtis of Kansas, Senate whip, Jim Watson of Indiana, Wadsworth of New York, Smoot of Utah and Moses of New Hampshire has attempted to steer the party's Senatorial craft, but without distinguished success. Just as too many cooks spoil the broth, so do too many helmsmen get even the most seaworthy of tubs into dangerous waters.

AMONG his senatorial shipmates who will be in line to grab for the party leadership when Lodge relinquishes it, Jim Watson of Indiana probably comes first.

Personally Watson is popular. Politically he is ambitious. He would like the helm. He knows just the course he would steer and just what port he would make for.

After four years as Senate leader Jim is confident he would be the outstanding safe and sane, conservative, dependable, high protectionist candidate for president in 1928.

But Jim's aggressive receptivity is rather frowned on by members who think he's perhaps as much a party extremist in a standpat way, as Brookhart or Borah are progressively.

They feel that Curtis is a better diplomat and would get farther with fewer fights than would Watson. Also they're not just sure what the effect would be from Watson's K. K. K. alliances in Indiana.

Wadsworth? Yes, they might do worse. Another blue stocking, personally likeable but without much force.

And a real [illegible] mate with a [illegible] pull will be needed.

Tom Sims Says

Let's see . . . In Canada, a horse threw the Prince of Wales, perhaps just to make him feel at home.

And in Chicago a [illegible] had 50 girls on his list. He was only $50,000 [illegible] state.

Air Line to Link Moscow and Peking

URGA, Mongolia, October 23 (AP) — Representatives of the German Junkers Company have just completed an air survey to give a regular airplane service between Moscow and Peking, with a possibility of extending it ultimately into South China. The line will follow the Trans-Siberian Railway from Moscow as far as Verkhne-Udinsk, and from there will turn south to Urga, and then to Peking by way of Kalgan and the railway connecting southern Mongolia with the Chinese capital.

The Moscow government has approved the route, and it is the desire of the promoters to get American capital to back a joint German-Russian Company. There is no likelihood that the regular service will be established before next year at the earliest. An air service is now operating with more or less regularity between Moscow and Vladivostok, and the proposed Peking line would operate in connection with this service, transferring passengers at Verkhne-Udinsk who desire to go to Mongolian or Chinese cities.

Since Mongolia declared itself an independent republic last July and proclaimed the Churaldan, or assembly, the holder of the supreme power in the land there is much speculation as to what the future of the great pastoral country will be. Under the Living Buddha, who is [illegible] the Russian czarist government had Mongolia [illegible] influence and resisted the efforts of Americans and others [illegible] to get concessions to build railways here.

When the czarist government fell affairs became chaotic in Mongolia. Baron Ungern-Sternberg, a leader of the White Russians, took Mongolia after the Bolshevists came into power and assumed supervision of the affairs of the Hutuktu, or Living Buddha, who had for years been the ward of the old czarist government.

Three years ago, the Red forces undermined Baron Ungern-Sternberg's power in Mongolia, captured and executed him. That was in the days when the Far Eastern Republic still existed in central Siberia, north of Mongolia, with its capital at Chita. The Far Eastern Republic was later absorbed by the Moscow government, but the Bolshevist forces never gave up the domination they had achieved in Mongolia by virtue of the overthrow of Ungern-Sternberg and Moscow has continued to direct Mongolian affairs, assuming much the same relation that the czarist government held toward Mongolia.

It was not until the death of the Living Buddha, that Mongolia proclaimed itself a republic, therefore casting off Chinese control, and theoretically becoming independent. In fact it is more thoroughly than ever under the domination of Moscow, as the great undeveloped plateau and desert land has few men among its nomadic population of 2,000,000 who can read and write and are capable of directing its affairs.

Mongolia is 11 times as large as Texas and nearly half as large as all of the continental area of the United States, but much of its territory is included in the Gobi Desert and a large percentage of the land requires irrigation for agricultural purposes. Its inhabitants are mostly wandering tribes of Mongols and Kalmucks that live in tent colonies and graze cattle and sheep on the high plains.

Berlin Adopting Radio

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—Reduction of the fee for installing radio receiving sets from 60 gold marks to two has resulted in an increase in the number of sets from 9,100 on April 1 to more than 200,000 on September 1. This growth is recorded in the Berlin district alone.

Don't Lose Sight of the Food Value of Your Bakings

Plain flour has a large amount of food value but it must be combined with good baking powder in order to retain this value.

Most self rising flours are not successful because they do not raise the bakings to the proper lightness. This means a certain loss of nutrition because they are heavy and hard to digest.

Every time you eat food that does not properly digest you do not get the full nutritional value—you are over-taxing your stomach. Nourishing and perfect bakings are what good health demands. The one sure way is—use pure flour and good baking powder.

If you want to find what thousands of housewives have learned—make some biscuits with self-rising flour—then make some with good plain flour and Calumet Baking Powder—notice the great difference. One trial will satisfy you. Your health demands that you make the experiment.

Those who know—millions of housewives, domestic science teachers, big hotels, restaurants, bakeries and railroads will not use anything but Calumet, the Economy Baking Powder.

Play safe—use Calumet and plain flour. It is the most economical and satisfactory, where light, wholesome and pure foods are desired.

FIND WHISKEY IN CEMETERY

BIG GAP, Oct. 2[illegible]—While the funeral [illegible] was in progress at Glencoe Cemetery Sunday afternoon, someone in the crowd discovered a half gallon jar of whiskey hidden under a pile of leaves just in the cemetery grounds. Further search revealed seven more half gallon jars. It was reported at once to the town officials and Chief of Police Marshall Belcher and Mayor Gilly carried the moonshine to the town tank where it was poured out.

No arrests were made as it was not known who placed the whiskey there. This is the second time whiskey has been found hidden in the cemetery.

TREFLING, Va., Oct. 23—[illegible] S. Mullins, prohibition inspector, who had been disabled by a broken arm for several months, has so far recovered as to be on the job again although he must get along with only one arm, the fractured limb having been amputated. YOUNG LEE CO MAN IS KILLED

Steward Napier of Turkey Cove Instantly Killed From Shot Gun Wounds

BIG STONE GAP, Va., Oct. 2[illegible]—Stewart Napier, a young man about 20 years of age who formerly lived in Turkey Cove, was instantly killed last Thursday night about eight o'clock near Dryden by N. C. Ely, an aged farmer, who suspected that Napier was stealing tires and other auto accessories from his garage. The young man was hit in the face, throat and breast by a full charge of No. [illegible] shot, and must have died within a few minutes time although no one reached him until about one hour after the shot was fired. Blood splotches on the building indicated that Napier had walked a few steps after being shot, by placing his hands on the building which left blood stained imprints on the wall.

Mr. Ely claims that Napier was crawling out of his garage over the door after being inside the building for ten or fifteen minutes. Although very dark he could see the bulk of the man's form as it came out. Mr. Ely did not go to the building after firing the shot but notified a number of his neighbors who arrived on the scene after about an hour's time. Napier was found dead a short distance from the garage. Ely also fired five shots from a pistol at another party he claims was with Napier, but escaped.

Many Casualties On Road to Mecca

BATAVIA, Dutch East Indies, Oct. 2[illegible]—(AP)—Of 30,000 Dutch Indian Mohammedans who made the pilgrimage to Mecca this year, about 5,000 have died on the way back from disease and exhaustion consequent upon the hardships of travel in visiting the holy places of Islam. Moslems believe that in these visits they will gain sanctity here and paradise hereafter.

The death rate of this year's pilgrimage has been higher than usual, and is attributed to so many of the pilgrims being aged and infirm.

Icelandic Poets Compose Sagas

HOLEN HORNAFJORD, Iceland, Oct. 2[illegible]—(AP) When an Icelandic poet wrote a song to the tune of Yankee Doodle celebrating the arrival here of the American globe circling airmen on their long journey across the Atlantic, it was rather a special courtesy for the Americans and the American translation was adopted and sung by some of the sailors from the cruiser Raleigh, which lay off the fjord to mother the flight.

But it was nothing new for Hornafjord, where [illegible] songs of their own composition, and the sagas of the old Norse vikings, who more than 1000 years [illegible], are handed down from generation to generation in the language in which they were originally and faithful to the old text. Iceland has a remarkably rich literature of its own, both written and oral, and poetry is especially dear to the Icelandic people.

In Holen Hornafjord, isolated from the rest of Iceland by mountain passes [illegible] for [illegible] it was 1000 years ago. [illegible] pressure of the small Icelandic population [illegible], many of the old viking customs are still observed. These include the gathering of the family circles during the long, almost sunless winter, when sagas are chanted and the heroic deeds of the old Norsemen are recounted. No [illegible] Icelandic [illegible] and [illegible] Hornafjord has an [illegible] civilization [illegible] important [illegible] it was 1000 years ago. The women dress in their quaint gowns of black silk often embroidered in silver and gold and wear the little black national cap or bonnet, a heritage of the early Norse settlers. In the long winter nights there is little to do and the evenings are devoted to the arts, literature, music, painting and drawing. Many of the villagers are graduates of the National University at Reykjavik and others have been educated at Copenhagen or other continental capitals.

Good Food is Essential to Health and Happiness!

When you buy your table needs from a grocer who does not know the difference between the various grades of food or one who buys from a price standpoint without regard to quality, you are risking the health and happiness of your family.

When you buy your food supplies from THE QUAKER MAID you get food that has been selected by experts—men who have devoted their lives to the study of this work. Every item we sell is guaranteed to be fresh, pure and wholesome and nine times out of ten you will find our prices to be lower than those being quoted by the individual grocer.
